REDS WIN BRIEF CONTROVERSY

Only Moore and Ten Minutes Required for Cincinnati to Defeat Chicago.
Cincinnati, Sept. 5.—Cincinnati defeated Chicago, 5 to 1, today in the shortest nine inning game of the season, leading only one four and 19 innings.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Cincinnati defeated Chicago, 5 to 1, today in the shortest nine inning game of the season, leading only one four and 19 innings.

GIANTS BEAT PHILLIES TWICE

Loose Fight Hard for First Game—Giants Get 15 Runs in Second.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—New York won both ends of a double header with Philadelphia today, taking the first game 6 to 5 and the second 15 to 5. After the Giants assumed a six-run lead early in the first game, the Phillies fought hard behind Weir's excellent relief pitching and drew within one run of tying the score in the ninth inning, when the last man was retired with two on base. Rain fell throughout the second contest. Kelly hit a home run with the bases full in this game, as did Travis Jackson in the third, insuring when the visiting club slammed the offerings of three hurlers for nine runs. Four circuit driven, three of them in one inning off Baldwin, the New York pitcher, featured the opening contest.

First game:
New York . . . 302 100 000—4 11 0
Philadelphia . . . 008 209 101—5 11 1
Batteries — Baldwin and Gowdy; Glatner, Weiner and J. Wilson.
Second game:
New York . . . 409 002 0—15 19 0
Philadelphia . . . 210 000 0—5 7 1
Called end of seventh, rain.
Batteries — McQuillan and Gowdy; Snyder, Carlson, Lewis, Pinto, Bishop and Henline, Wendell.

BROOKLYN WINS FROM BOSTON.

Has Now Won 14 in Row—Error With Two Out Starts Only Scoring.

Boston, Sept. 5.—Brooklyn ran its straight victories to 14 by defeating Boston, 4 to 0, today behind the pitching of Wilton Alhardt, recruit from Lakeland, Fla., who now has won four straight games. Jesse Barnes pitched for Boston and was effective except in the fifth, when, with two out and one on, High dropped a Texas leaguer to left. Mitchell beat out a bunt on a close play, Wheat walked. Fournier doubled to left on the first pitched ball, scoring High and Mitchell. Brown doubled and scored two more runs. Boston made only five hits, and two were made by Melina. Scops by a double by High base prevented Brooklyn from making more trouble for Barnes. Wheat made several sensational running back catches in deep left field. Brooklyn . . . 000 000 000—4 8 1
Boston . . . 000 000 000—0 5 1
Batteries — Alhardt and DeBerry; Barnes and Gibson.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

DO NOT TRY TO LEARN GOLF IN A WEEK.
DRILL UNTIL FORM IS A HABIT—THEN PRACTICE IT.
HIT BALL THE FIRST YOU CAN EVERY TIME.

What are a few good tips for beginners?

Answered by BOB MACDONALD.

Winner of the Metropolitan Open championship, 1921 and 1923. One of the longest drivers in the game, though using only a 12½ ounce driver.

A beginner should practice at first more than he plays. He should not try to learn too much at first, nor attempt to make a low score. Too many beginners "kill" the ball in an effort to make long drives. The beginner should rather concentrate on form, drilling until form becomes a habit and he no longer has to think about it.

DETROIT BEATS INDIANS

Takes Both Ends of Double Header—Second Game Chattered Up With Home Runs.

Detroit, Sept. 5.—Detroit took both games of a double header with Cleveland here today, winning the first, 7 to 3, and the second, 29 to 1. Two left handers, Smith and Wells, battled in the first game. The former was hit consistently while Wells had but one bad inning, the fourth, when a double play halted the visitors after two runs were scored. Detroit turned the second game into a field meet, Manush and Rigney circling the bases four times, while Cobb and Heilmann went around three times.

First game:

Cleveland . . . 810 200 000—3 13 2
Detroit . . . 622 129 000—7 12 0

Batteries — Smith and L. Sewell; Wells and Woodall.

Second game:

Cleveland . . . 000 001 000—1 5 2
Detroit . . . 205 450 312—29 21 2

Batteries — Chie, Edwards, Yowell and Myatt; Holloway and Banister, Manion.

CVENGIROS ALLOWS THREE HITS

Chicago, Getting Seven Blows Off Danforth, Beats St. Louis, 4 to 1.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Mike Cvenigros held the St. Louis club to three hits today, and Chicago won the first game of the series, 4 to 1. The Chicago players made seven hits off Danforth.

St. Louis . . . 000 001 000—1 5 9
Chicago . . . 000 202 000—4 7 1
Batteries — Danforth and Severid; Cvenigros and Grabowski.

MAIL ORDER NARCOTIC PILOT

New York, Sept. 5.—Mr. Carleton Simon, police narcotic division chief, announced last night that with the arrest of Michael Krause, 21, a former socialist, he had probably discovered the source of an extensive mail order narcotic business. Krause, said to be known in the prize ring as "Mike Kelly" and as "Mickey Murray," was taken in custody by two detectives after hand to hand fighting in the elevator of Krause's apartment and charged with possession of narcotics and violation of the Sullivan law.

VALUABLE JEWELS STOLEN.

New York, Sept. 5.—Jewelry and silverware to the value of $12,000 were stolen from the home of Mrs. Robert J. Campbell, prominent society woman, on August 9. It has been learned when police sent a list of the missing property to the pawn brokers. Mrs. Campbell was at a theatre at the time.

An elevator operator in the building, who disappeared on the day the theft was discovered, is being sought, according to the police.

Game's Best Catcher?

No team ever won a championship without a great catcher behind the bat. (Which is where all great catchers should be, of course. Washington has one of the greatest catchers in baseball in the person of Muddy Ruel shown here. Indeed some experts call him the outstanding catcher in the year, now that Schalk, Perkins, O'Neill and other veterans have slipped materially. Ruel, quite naturally, has been an important factor in the Washingtons' sensational stand.

SHE WAS GOING BACK

Louise Manzer Walsh Worked Way Out of Police Detention Room Early Yesterday Morning to Return to Party.

Louise Manzer Walsh, who was arrested by Officers Cross and Tamsett Thursday evening, on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated at the officers were on their way to her home to quiet down a party which was reported to be reaching rare proportions, worked her way out of the detention room at the Municipal building where she was being held at about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, possibly to return as a perfect hostess and look after her happy guests. But it so happened that Officer Tamsett, who was just going off duty, was near the foot of the stairs and stopped to see who it was. Both were surprised, and Louise more surprised than pleased. She was returned to another section of the detention room with the promise of an invitation to the party which City Judge VanWoert holds every morning at 9 o'clock. She was sentenced to the county jail for a month by Judge VanWoert, who also according to the new motor vehicle law was forced to revoke her license of the car. The car is the same one which her husband, Daniel Walsh, was driving some time ago when he was arrested on an identical charge. He was recently released from the county jail where he served three months for that offense. Marvin M. Mulken, her companion of the night before was fined $10 on a charge of resisting an officer.

HENNSTREET WINS FROM WEST

Closely Contested Golf Match Ends at Twentieth Hole.

Despite the rain yesterday there was a tournament match played at the golf links at the Country club which proved one of the most closely contested matches of the year, and in which Marcus Henstreet defeated George West, 1 down in 20 holes of play. West led his opponent all the way until the last few holes having 1 3 or 3 down most of the time. Henstreet then staged a wonderful comeback and took the last three holes of the second round and tied the match. On the 19th hole, West laid a stytle for Henstreet which caused them to have the hole. On the 20th hole Henstreet sunk a long put for birdie 3 and took the match. George West is one of the club's best players and this victory for Henstreet over him but confirms what Mr. Simpson has been saying that if Henstreet will practice and develop his game he is a comer in golf. S. E. McKean and L. L. Gardner also braved the storm yesterday afternoon and played 13 holes which darkness necessitated calling the game. The remaining five holes will be played today. Mr. G. West made a fine showing against his daughter's antagonist as Mr. McKean and the latter had him but one down at the 15th hole.

Owing to the weather of yesterday, Mr. Simpson last evening stated, the time in which the second rounds of the fall handicap tournament must be played or forfeited has been extended to include Sunday and Monday. This is done in order that none, unless they choose need play on Sunday.

MURDER SUSPECT IN ITALY.

Caserta, Italy, Sept. 5.—Carabinieri Thursday arrested Antonio Apostolico, who they say, was wanted to face a charge of having murdered the father of his sweetheart at Cambridge, Mass., in August, 1923. Apostolico, it was alleged, fled from America with a forged passport and had $500 in his possession.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY

DISTINGUISHED WOMEN SPEAK-ERS HEARD AT DEMOCRATIC GATHERING IN MUNICIPAL HALL LAST EVENING.

Rally Staged by Women's Democratic League of Oneonta Drives Full House of Men and Women—Campaign and Political Platform Fully Discussed by State Leaders—Mrs. Daniel O'Day and Miss Marion Dickerman Speakers of the Evening.

The auditorium of the Municipal hall was appropriately decorated and well filled last evening for the opening campaign rally given under the auspices of the Women's Democratic league of this city, the number of persons alone disproving a statement recently passed around that a Democratic in this vicinity is insignificant enough to be regarded as a curiosity.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Chester A. Miller, chairman of the local committee, who also read a note from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, expressing regret at not being able to attend the rally.

The first address of the evening was given by Mrs. Daniel O'Day, chairman of the Women's division of the state organization, her talk being of a most timely and helpful nature pertaining as it did to what is at present a vital question, namely, "What Can Women Do in Politics?"

Mrs. O'Day expressed the opinion, usually contradicted by men, that the novelty of politics is not wearing off for women, but that, on the other hand, their interest is growing as their knowledge increases. Her advice to the woman who would get into the political game, is first of all, the very simple but important rule of becoming familiar with the two political platforms and of becoming identified with the one that seems the most just.

The question, in the last analysis, is a matter of arriving at the fundamental difference between the two parties.

"The Democratic party, in my opinion," stated Mrs. O'Day, "is the one that considers not the prosperity of the few but the prosperity of all. It is, moreover, the party that finds its interest in the human side of government, not as the Republican party does, in the sole question of the almighty dollar."

"After selecting her party the next thing for the woman voter to do is to realize the importance of the primaries, since with the large choice of candidates this is the only means of indicating the person of her preference."

At this point the speaker passed a criticism on her party, stating that a Democrat is more apt than any one else to split his ticket, preferring always the best man, whether Republican or Democrat.

In conclusion, she said: "The thing needed more than any other by our party is a leader. Calvin Coolidge is an honest man but not a leader, and having as we now do, the whole world in our hands, together with the added power that has come as a result of the acceptance of the Dawes plan, a man with the ability of leadership is absolutely essential. The regeneration of the Democratic party will depend largely upon our gaining the next election, a step that will be of benefit not only to this country but to others, and a means, no doubt, of bringing about world peace."

Following the first address Milton Welch gave a vocal solo, "My Dear," accompanied by Frank Walsh. They responded with an encore, "Little Mother of Mine."

The second speaker of the evening was Miss Marion Dickerman of Oswego, chairman of the Oswego Democratic county committee. She spoke in an encouraging manner of the growth of her party in this state, be-

SUNDAY BASEBALL

In Oneonta Held to Be Illegal by County Attorney Kilkenny

NO ORDINANCE ADOPTED

Resolution Adopted by Common Council Permitting Certain Games on August 17 and September 7 and 14 Not in Conformity With Statute and Therefore Void in Opinion of Mr. Kilkenny—Up to Police to Enforce the Law, Says the Committee Opposed to Sunday Games.

County Attorney Dennis J. Kilkenny has, at the request of the committee formed by the churches and other organizations opposed to Sunday baseball in the city, written an opinion as to the legality of such games in the city at present. Briefly he finds that the resolution passed by the Common Council does not conform to the statute and that there has been no action taken which would legalize Sunday games here. He has advised the committee that it will be the duty of the police authorities of the city to enforce the law and arrest any offenders. What action if any will be taken in case the game announced for tomorrow is played could not be learned last evening. The committee evidently think that it is up to the police department of the city. County Attorney Huntington could not be reached last evening, after the opinion by County Attorney Kilkenny had been made public.

After stating that the question propounded to him to be: "Is it lawful to play the game of baseball on Sunday in the city of Oneonta, and if so, by what authority is such playing made lawful?" Mr. Kilkenny writes as follows:

Statement of Fact.
The Common Council of the city of Oneonta, N. Y., on the 14th day of August, 1936, passed a resolution in substantially the following form:

"Be it resolved, that the council does hereby grant permission to the Oneonta Park and Playground Improvement society to play baseball games on the following Sundays, viz: August 17th, 1936, September 7th, 1936, and September 14th, 1936, the games to be played between the hours of two o'clock and six o'clock p. m."

I am informed that a game of baseball was in fact played within the bounds of the city of Oneonta on said 17th day of August, 1936, and also that the game was played at the usual place in said city and that no action was taken in any way to interfere with the playing of said game or to apprehend any person having charge or taking part in the game. I am also informed that it is the intention of the management of the ball team and game in this city to play games of ball on September 7th and 14th, 1936.

Statement of the Law.
Section 2140 of the penal law provides as follows:

"The first day of the week being by general consent set apart for rest and religious uses, the law prohibits the doing on that day of certain acts hereinafter specified, which are serious interruptions of the repose and religious liberty of the community."

Section 2141 of the same law provides as follows:

"A violation of the foregoing prohibition is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not more than five dollars and not more than ten dollars, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding five days, or by both, but for a second or other offense, where the party shall have been previously convicted, it shall be punishable by a fine not less than ten dollars and not more than twenty dollars, and by imprisonment in a county jail not less than five nor more than twenty days."

Section 2145 of the penal law provides as follows:

"Public sports on Sunday. All shooting, hunting, playing, horse-racing, gaming or other public sports, exercises or shows, upon the first day of the week, and all noise unreasonably disturbing the peace of the day are prohibited."

"Notwithstanding the provisions of this section or of any general or local act, it shall be lawful to play baseball games on the first day of the week after two o'clock in the afternoon and to witness such an exhibition free of charge or may not be charged."

DR. W. C. T. U. EVENT IN CITY

Annual State Convention Begins October 2, Landing in City—Special Features and Noted Speakers to Attend Fifteenth Anniversary.

Dr. Ella A. Boole, president of the New York State W. C. T. U., announced in a recent interview some of the special features of the state convention, which will be held from October 2 to October 7, inclusive, in the First Presbyterian church in this city. "This will be a big event," says Dr. Boole, "as the organization will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary, and will demonstrate the history and progress of this great movement from the crusade days of 1837 to the present time."

Special Features.
Among the special features will be a demonstration of "Jubilee Songs," prepared by Mrs. Mary J. Wood and Mrs. Lillian Payne of Ithaca. This will be given on the morning of the first day. On Saturday afternoon there will be an Allegiance parade in honor of Mrs. L. M. DeRiva of New York, in which many other organizations will take part. It is expected that this will form a model for similar parades to be held all over the state on October 31, or November 1.

An historical program entitled "Fiftieth Anniversary" arranged by Mrs. Eva C. Horton of Long Island will be the striking feature of the Monday evening program, and will be put on by Miss Iva Ingersoll, director of Dramatic Arts in the Oneonta High school.

Noted Speakers and Musicians.
Miss Flora E. Stout, who has just returned from seven years of service in Burma, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements, and Miss Christine T. Thibault, who is just home from China after four years spent in teaching, scientific temperance in both mission and government schools will be among the noted speakers. Other speakers of note will address the convention.

Should either or both of the candidates for Governor, says Dr. Boole, declare for law observance and law enforcement, he will be invited to address the convention.

The famous Gloria Trumpeters of New York have been secured and will assist at each meeting, both day and evening. They will also take part in parade and pageant, in addition to giving a musical program on Saturday evening. Several hundred delegates will be present from all parts of the state. The citizens of Oneonta are already making preparations for the big event.

Opposed to Sunday Baseball.
At the regular meeting of the Tithers' association of the First Methodist Episcopal church, held in the parlors of the church Thursday evening, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, the Storehouse Tithers' association of the First Methodist Episcopal church goes on record as opposed to Sunday baseball, and it is further

Resolved, that we regret the action of the Common Council and would request that honorable body to take such action as necessary to guard against the further desecration of the Sabbath in the city of Oneonta, it being the unanimous opinion of those present that Sunday baseball is only the opening wedge.

Respectfully submitted, The Tithers' association. advt 17

Cut It Out.
That you yourself and the devil take the hindmost? We see and hear about all of the best things of life, but know, think or care little about the good things that are being done every day. Say, Are you safely playing your idle money with me, where it helps to get the hindmost a home, on easy terms and pays you six per cent compound interest, besides giving the Oneonta carpenter, painter, plumber and wage earner work, or are you sending it out of town at a less interest rate? Multi this over, as there's a lot of meat in it for thoughtless and careless people, who don't care a darn about the hindmost feller. Nuff sed, as I prove what I preach, I'm the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. advt 17

At Herrin "Klan Murder" Inquest

There is one bit of testimony presented at the coroner's inquest into the Herrin, Ill., "Klan murders" that probably will not go into the records exactly the way it was given. It concerns Jane Lanster, official stenographer at the inquest. Miss Lanster had to listen to Charles Denham, sitting right across the table from her, accuse her of being present at the rioting in front of Smith's garage. Denham, an admitted klanman, said that she was in an automobile occupied by State's Attorney Delos L. Duty and Judge E. W. Bowen, and that Duty and Bowen fired at klanmen. Miss Lanster's face registered both a com and amusement as Denham made his charges. Just back of her may be seen a young militiaman, wearing a steel helmet and with bayonet in gun, standing guard during the proceedings.

Noting that a new interest, power and courage is being manifested and the belief of the opinion that with the cooperation of all party members, New York state can be made Democratic within four years.

"The years since 1914 have been epoch making ones in the political history of our country. Conditions in Europe are affecting us more keenly than ever before and we cannot afford to ignore them. As a result of recent scientific inventions—the radio, airplanes and numerous others—we are eleven times nearer to the people of other countries and are therefore eleven times more susceptible to their conditions, whether good or bad.

"This fact alone has tended to make everything political take on a greater importance and especially is this true of the coming campaign. The just thing to do is to personal or vindictive sense, but to take them as man for man and to match them against one another."

In giving a short sketch of the political record of John W. Davis, Miss Dickerman, mentioned the stand that he took in the West Virginia miners' war, standing first with the capitalists and again with the miners depending upon where the greater justice lay.

"He is a man who sees wrong where there is wrong and right where there is right. He associated himself with a small group of men whose purpose it was to reorganize the rules governing the procedure of the House of Representatives, with the result that the present rules are a step in advance of the old ones. He championed the right of the 8-hour day, making the labor of a human being no longer a commodity to be bargained for. As Solicitor General of the U. S., an office to which he was appointed by Wilson, he appeared as defendant for the Child Labor law, a statute that he had previously helped to pass. Or, to be more comprehensive, John W. Davis is a clear, concise defendant of the rights of the weak against the strong."

"His record in England is one for us to be proud of and it is a matter to be noted that England is looking to us to elect Davis as our leader and to line ourselves up with the ranks of the progressives."

"Frankly speaking, I am not thoroughly pleased with every part of the Democratic platform but at that it is standing head and shoulders above the platform of the Republicans. But the important thing is the fact that Mr. Davis has not been held down by the restrictions of a platform, that he has been possessed with sufficient leadership, or to use the slang expression, with sufficient 'sand' to go beyond that. As in proven by his previous political campaign, John W. Davis is a man of courage, a leader who does not leave it to a professional mousetrap to declare the principles of his belief."

The two speakers for the evening are touring the state, together with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in the interest of the Democratic party. Mrs. O'Day and Miss Dickerman arrived in Oneonta yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. William T. Hyde of Cooperstown, whose guests they had been for the past week.

They were entertained at a dinner party in this city last evening, the host and hostess being Mr. and Mrs. Lavery P. Butts and the party being given at their residence, 41 Elm street.

MRS. H. C. LAWRENCE DIES

Entered Resident of Stamford and Oneonta, Succumbs to Weak Heart After Brief Illness.

Mrs. Sarah Travis Lawrence, beloved wife of Henry C. Lawrence, who died at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George J. Clute, 123 Spruce street, Thursday morning as noticed in The Star of Friday was for nearly 40 years a well known and respected resident of Stamford before coming to Oneonta about eight years ago to live with the daughter, and while she had not been in the best of health while a resident of Oneonta, still she made a host of friends who will join their sympathy with that of other friends of the family.

Funeral services will be held from the Clute home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Dr. T. F. Hall of Cooperstown officiating. Burial will be made at Stamford, where brief prayer services will be held at the grave, or in case of inclement weather, at the Stamford Methodist church.

Mrs. Lawrence was born at Cincinnati August 7, 1851, the daughter of Nathan J. and Angeline Crosby Travis. In early childhood she moved with her family to Roxbury, where she lived until her marriage to Henry C. Lawrence of Halcott November 6, 1872. They lived at Halcott until 1880 when they removed to Stamford, where Mr. Lawrence was engaged in the hardware business until coming to Oneonta in 1914.

Surviving besides the husband and daughter mentioned are one son, George W. Lawrence of Stamford, a brother, Elmer Travis of Roxbury, and two young grandchildren, Angeline Lawrence of Stamford and Donald Lowell Clute of this city.

Two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They were a very happy couple and her interest in her home and loved ones never for a moment waned.

Mrs. Lawrence was a member of the Methodist church of Stamford and later transferred her membership to the First Methodist church here. She was an ever helpful neighbor and friend and her example has been a help in every community of which she has been a member.

While she had been in failing health for some time, still she was able to assist about the house until a short time ago when a nervous breakdown was too much of a strain for her overtaxed system.

Motoring to Kansas City.

Word has been received in this city from Dr. and Mrs. Norman W. Getman who left by motor last Sunday morning for Kansas City, Mo., the first word having been sent from Chicago where they arrived on Thursday, after spending a short while with relatives in Cleveland, O. They report a pleasant trip and expect to reach their destination about September 8.

Minard Johns Dead.

Minard Johns of East Worcester, whose critical illness at the Parshall hospital was noted in The Star yesterday, died at that institution yesterday. His body was removed to the undertaking parlors of H. A. Lewis, and later Undertaker Germond of Charlottville came after it and removed it to his late home.

Lavern P. Butts and the party being given at their residence, 41 Elm street.

MANY distinguished persons go through the Parks in summer and in winter for some parks are open the whole year. Last year the late President Harding and his party visited the Yellowstone and Zoon National Parks and expected to stop at the Yosemite. Every summer distinguished actors, moving picture people, professors, noted artists, singers, lecturers, stop at the National Parks, and thirty-four permits for taking moving pictures were issued last year.

The ruins of our Southwest that have been set aside for monuments are favorite places for scientists to visit, and they also afford good backgrounds for movie scenes, as they are in stretches of desert, characteristic of the country of Arizona, Colorado and nearby States.

Automobiles Popular

All visitors do not travel by rail and it is becoming more and more popular to go to and through the Parks by auto. When the National Park-to-Park Highway is completed there will be more persons who will take this method of seeing the country. Computations show that sixty per cent. of the visitors last summer entered the Parks by automobile. It will be seen by this that good roads are an essential part of the National Parks demands. But the roads inside the Parks are not so good as the roads leading to them which are built by State and Federal aid. The Yellowstone Park probably has the best roads and road making is going on here and in other Parks.

Trails An Interesting Feature

So many persons walk or go by horseback through some of the Parks that trail making is an interesting feature of the service. New trails are in process of construction in most of these districts.

nor is this confined to the new playgrounds, for last year in the Yellowstone Park the Howard Eaton Trail was finished and dedicated. This trail is one hundred and fifty-seven miles long. Howard Eaton and his brothers had for years a ranch open to summer visitors near Wolf, Montana, and Howard Eaton took parties through the Yellowstone and other Parks. Many distinguished visitors were present at the dedication of this new trail to the famous guide and scout who died recently.

Some of the National Parks undoubtedly be enlarged in the near future. The Yosemite and Sequoia National Parks need additional acreage, and the Yellowstone will probably be made larger by the addition of the Glacier country, which holds a mighty glacier whose ice is filled with ossified grasshoppers which may have been there from prehistoric ages. It is planned to open a summer school of research for scientists. This Yellowstone School of Natural Research will be open to men and women who want to extend their knowledge of geology, geology, botany and natural history beyond the classroom.

National Monuments

Our National Monuments are equally as interesting and instructive. The Monuments in our Southwest are studying prehistoric civilizations, and who are instrumental in asking Washington to preserve other places pertaining to an early race that once inhabited this continent, or natural wonders. Under President Harding we gained several National Monuments. He set aside by proclamation the Cycad National Monument in South Dakota; the Aztec Ruin National Monument, New Mexico; the Hovenweep National Monument in Colorado; the Pinnacles National Monument in California; the Pipe Springs National Monument in Arizona; the Tinianogus Cave National Monument in Utah; the Bryce Canyon National Monument in Utah; the Mound City Group National Monument in Ohio (this consists of Indian mounds), on the Camp Sherman Military Reservation. President Coolidge has added the Carlsbad National Cave Monument in New Mexico.

Under Charge Various Departments

Most persons think all the National Parks and National Monuments are under the care of the Department of the Interior, but this is not so. While there are nineteen parks administered by the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior, Chickamauga, Antietam, Shiloh, Gettysburg, Vicksburg, Lincoln's Birthplace and Guilford Courthouse—so-called military Parks—are administered by the War Department. In a similar way while the National Parks Service looks after many of our National Monuments—twenty-two to be exact—there are thirteen Monuments under the care of the Department of Agriculture and three administered by the War Department.

Among these last is the newly created Mound City Group.

Many things must be considered in connection with the upkeep of the areas our Government has set aside for the enjoyment of the people. Forest growth must be taken into consideration and proper means employed to extinguish fires which may start from many sources, among them the carelessness of campers. Wild life conservation is another role in which National Parks play an important part. The Yellowstone has supplied the game needs of several zoological parks in our large cities. This park abounds in elk and it has the largest herd of buffaloes in the United States. The efforts of many lovers of animals secured the Mt. McKinley National Park as a game reserve. As many as eight hundred mountain sheep have been seen by the Superintendent in one trip. Wild life is abundant in Crater Lake National Park. Deer, elk, foxes and wolves abound, but the large area here, also, prevents proper supervision.

Learning How To Manufacture Roquefort in the United States—Exporting Swiss Cheese To Switzerland—"Cultures" of Molds and Bacteria Utilized by Scientific Methods.

By RENE BACHE

IT is a mistake to suppose that the first step in making a Swiss cheese is to assemble a number of holes. The holes represent bubbles formed in the curd by gas during the process of fermentation. During the twelve months immediately preceding the outbreak of the great war 41,000,000 pounds of foreign cheeses were imported into the United States. The war cut off the supply, and thus American manufacturers were led to try to see what they could do in the way of producing cheeses of their own. Particularly Swiss and Roquefort.

As a result, we are now importing very little Swiss cheese, nearly all of it that we consume being made in this country.

made from sheep's milk, and in the United States sheep of the strain bred for milk-giving purposes are almost unknown. Hence, the production of American Roquefort is it is necessary to utilize cow's milk.

Practically all of the world's supply of Roquefort cheese has come from one district, that of Aveyron, in southern France. All the milk used in its manufacture is gathered within a radius of fifty miles of the small town of Roquefort, where the cheese is made in a curing process of caves. In that vicinity cows have been bred for this special purpose for many centuries. They are wonderful milkers, about 100,000 of them yielding enough to supply 20,000,000 pounds of cheese per annum.

The caves of Roquefort are abandoned quarries in a mountain. The latter so honeycombed with burrows as to form grottoes in series and on different levels. Some of them connected by stairs or elevators. Inside, the atmosphere is moist, and a vigorous circulation of air through the many tunnels lowers the temperature as a result of rapid evaporation. The temperature and humidity remain quite constant the year round, and conditions favor the ripening of the cheese and the growth of the green mold which gives to Roquefort its distinctive and much-appreciated flavor.

The spread of the fungus. This mold—obtained originally from the French Roquefort cheese, and known as a pure culture on gelatin—is used, at the start, to inoculate bread. A few of its spores are transferred with a sterile platinum needle to a flask of sterile water and shaken up. Then, with a sterilized pipette, some of the fluid is introduced in a dozen places through the crust of a loaf of bread which has been sterilized in an oven.

Preparing The "Mould Powder"

Utmost care, you see, is taken to make sure that the loaf shall contain no germs other than those of the mold. To keep them out, the loaf is covered with a thin coat of paraffin. Then it is put in a moist place, and in two or three weeks the mold spreads all through the bread. This being accomplished, the loaf is dried, sliced and ground to the fineness of pepper. It is now "mould powder," and will preserve its vitality, i. e., the reproductive power of the fungus, for months.

The cheese curd, broken by hand into small pieces, is formed into the shape of cylindrical cheeses by packing it in hoops of galvanized metal. It goes into the form as a white pulp, in a series of layers, with a liberal sprinkling of mould powder alternating. That is to say, on top of each layer the mould powder is freely sprinkled from a popper-bag. By which means the cheese in its turn is inoculated with the flavoring fungus. In thus packing the cheese curd in the form a gentle pressure with the fingers is used. Not too hard, for the finished product must be soft and friable. On the fourth or fifth day after the cheeses are made they are rubbed all over the outside with fine, dry salt, which helps to get rid of the residual whey.

Showering The Cheeses

Then they go to the ripening rooms, where, to undergo that process properly, they must remain four or five months. During that period the green mold extends its vegetation through them. But the mold requires oxygen for its growth, and so, after the ripening has reached a certain point, the cheeses are stabbed through with many holes, which admit air to their interior and thereby encourage the spread of the fungus. For this purpose an ingenious machine is used, carrying forty steel needles, which operates in the manner of a punch, making a corresponding number of punctures at one stroke.

When the ripening has arrived at a certain stage the cheeses are wrapped in tulle, which prevents them from drying out, and at the same time retains volatile flavoring elements which might otherwise escape. These volatile elements are products of the green mold, which, as already said, gives to Roquefort cheese its distinctive flavor.
